VALUE OF A THREAT

How Designing Persons Take a Mean Advantage

WHEN IN CONSCIOUS POWER

Wives Frequently Terrorized by Their Husbands, While Scapegrace Sons Abuse Their Positions.

The threat as a weapon of social warfare has not yet been given its truly important place. The easiest persons are inclined to regard the threat as the outcome of a vain and feeble mind and are prompted to laugh when the villain cries "Beware!" Much as we may despise the threat, yet it is indubitable that more people are influenced and made to do what is against their wishes by this means than by actual violence.

The threat wielder is naturally puny proportioned, mentally and physically, and exercises his power most effectively in the woman's world. Women more than men have reason to dread the threat, for man can either afford to run its dangers or proceed to immediate punishment. The woman is defenseless, and though she would frequently like to proceed to extreme, yet traditional convention keeps her within bounds. Threats are so varied that it would require a large volume to describe them all, but we will speak of the more common.

The dissatisfied son is well known to society. He greedily seizes every occasion to drag his name through the mire and besmirch the family. He is frequently remonstrated with; prayers, tears, exhortations are in vain. Then comes the last injunction, "If you persist in this last course I will disinherit you." "Go ahead," replies the young scoundrel; "you cut off my supplies, and I'll disgrace the whole family."

Wielded by men whose mentality lacks intuition. To a man whose intuitions are good, and who reads human nature easily, the threat is a powerful weapon. It really requires a man who can analyze emotion and passion to reach the acme of perfection as a threat wielder. The vulgar threatener loses his charm, but the accomplished villain can so torture his victim or victims that the pangs endured by the patrons of the auto da fe were exquisite pleasures in comparison. Apparently the kindest and most subservient husbands can, by judicious handling of the threat, drive their wives almost to desperation at a social function, and none but them know of the secret punishment. To employ the threat so that it peppers every fiber of your victim's body the tenderest points in your opponent's armor must be known. That once being discovered it is marvelous what ramifications the threat can take. The nearest glance can become a threat, and the person is as completely under the glamour of this delicate inquisition as the diminutive mouse in the claws of a powerful cat.

The most successful threat is not to the woman herself, for a woman's patience and pluck under such circumstances can be provokingly humiliating, and there is no man who feels exactly a hero when the person he has sworn to honor and protect will regard him with humid eyes and meekly say, "As you like, dearest."

Women, as a general rule, love martyrdom, and there are some so peculiarly constituted as to derive the severest enjoyment from the contemplation of their little lords were harboring in their minds some hideous schemes of vengeance against them. But where this individual to do something to himself would be eminently successful. Women above all things feel disgrace, and the anguish at the loss of an unamiable husband by being hit over the head with a luncheon ticket is trivial when compared to the sorrow for the manner of his death. It would not be for the fight of her husband's soul the tears were shed, but for the disgraceful circumstances attending the departure. The fact that it was not a respectable demise for which she could be properly consoled would be the only bitter remembrance of her sweet widowhood. —San Francisco Chronicle.

his newly made wife, and it was plain that he was proud of her. Across the car from them sat another couple who had come on at Maysville, evidently from the Ohio side of the river. The man was not at all bad looking, but the woman with him had a face on her that would scare a setting hen off her nest. It didn't take the man long to notice the pretty woman across the car, and then he fairly feasted his eyes on her. He sat facing her, and she couldn't get out of reach of his gaze, and at last it began to embarrass her.

"George," she finally said to her husband, "that man across the car annoys me."

"How, darling? and George, utterly oblivious of everything else except her until then, looked fierce.

"By staring at me all the time."

"Wait a minute," said George, and he began watching the offender.

"It was evident that the man was in no sense a masochist, for when he saw the pretty woman's escort eyeing him he turned his face toward the homely woman with him. George watched for five minutes, and during that time he also observed the homely lady. Then he once more turned to his own chamber."

"It's all right, darling," he said, "and I won't interfere with his looking at you all he wants to. If you were as homely as that woman and she was as pretty as you are, dearest, I'd be blamed if I wouldn't look at her all I wanted to. I wouldn't care if it threw the whole train off the track and tore up the roadbed for twenty miles."

"Then she smiled the very sweetest kind of a smile and the other man watched her cautiously, and George let him."

Chicago Board of Trade.

I have lost 110 pounds, making 42 pounds less in 10 weeks by using 4 bottles of Dr. Edison's Obesity Pills and wearing his Obesity Band.

Very truly yours, CHARLES H. KING, Prof. H. C. King, Chicago University, writes to the Chicago Board of Trade, Sept. 15, 1922.

Compulsive men should pay some attention to reducing their weight. When a man is troubled with rheumatism, dyspepsia, kidney trouble or nervousness the reducing of weight is slower, until the Obesity Pills have cured the disease that causes obesity. The pills soften and beautify the skin of the face.

I am at liberty to cite a case in point. Under my advice Mr. Armour used an Edison Obesity Band and 3 bottles of Pills and lost 20 pounds in 6 weeks. Other patients have been equally successful.
